Reshmi Nair, Ph.D., is an Assistant Scientist at the Moore Center for the Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse, Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Her research primarily focuses on Data Science for Public Health. It includes designing and evaluating intervention studies; survey development, administration, and analysis of survey data; identifying, gathering, managing, and analyzing administrative public health and criminal justice datasets for policy analysis and health disparities.