

Robyn Blake graduated from the University of South Carolina with a degree in Criminal Justice and a minor in Psychology and received her Master of Arts degree in Criminology from the University of Delaware. In her current position at Dee Norton Child Advocacy Center, she reports on data for grant reports and helps apply for grant opportunities. Along with a group of people at Dee Norton, she helped start the Village Conversations committee whose goal is to increase staff willingness to understand, appreciate, and value cultures and backgrounds that make their community unique.