APSAC

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH

THE NEW YORK
FOUNDLING

Welcome to APSAC's Advanced Training Summit!

Our vision is for a world where all maltreated or at-risk children and their families have access to the highest level of professional commitment and service. Our mission is achieved in a number of ways, most notably through expert training and educational activities, policy leadership and collaboration, and consultation that emphasizes theoretically sound, evidence-based principles.

Come join us in the celebration of this vision and commitment to supporting and training professionals who serve children and families affected by child maltreatment and violence. Through the hard work and dedication of our members, APSAC has grown into a multidisciplinary group of professionals, who also are our friends, family, colleagues and the leading experts on the prevention and intervention of child abuse in the United States.

Please join us in Portland, Maine June 21-23, 2017.

Tricia Gardner, JD
APSAC Board President

About the Advanced Training Summit

The educational goal of APSAC's Advanced Training Summit is to foster professional excellence in the field of child maltreatment by providing interdisciplinary professional education.

The Advanced Training Summit includes 10 advanced training institutes, 17 advanced training workshops, and 47 information/discussion roundtables which address all aspects of child maltreatment including prevention, cultural issues assessment, intervention and treatment with victims, perpetrators and families affected by physical, sexual and psychological abuse and neglect.

Upon completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- 1) Identify physical abuse, sexual abuse and neglect in children
- 2) Treat abused and neglected children
- 3) Apply model examination techniques for assessment of abused/neglected children
- 4) Describe and utilize the most up-to-date information concerning working with abused and neglected children to improve patient care
- 5) Prepare and report quality testimony in court cases, both as experts and as witnesses

Workshops have been designed for professionals in mental health, medicine and nursing, law, education, prevention, law enforcement, research, advocacy, child protection services, and all who serve children and families affected by child maltreatment and violence.

Volunteer Scholarships Available!

APSAC offers a limited number of volunteer scholarships with preference being given to students and entry-level, or low income professionals, in the field of child maltreatment. Volunteer assistance is needed June 20-23, 2017 on-site at the Westin Harborview Hotel. Volunteer tasks include: stuffing name badges and conference materials, staffing the registration booth, monitoring sessions, and assisting speakers and organizers with many of the details that come up on-site. For volunteer applications email a request to jcampbell@apsac.org.

Interested in Presenting at the Next Colloquium?

The 2018 Call for Papers will be available soon at www.apsac.org or you can email us at jcampbell@apsac.org to request a form. APSAC is soliciting abstracts for training, research and poster presentations for the 25th Annual APSAC Colloquium. Join us at one of the field’s premier forums for child maltreatment professionals to offer training presentations and report new research findings. Topics address legal, medical, mental health, investigative, preventive, and protective services work with abused and neglected children, their families, and perpetrators of abuse. Submissions are encouraged on all aspects of child maltreatment, including cultural diversity.

Advertisers and Sponsors

If you want to reach experts in the field of child maltreatment, join us in Portland! The Summit offers an unparalleled opportunity to reach an interdisciplinary group of professionals from throughout the country. There are advertising and sponsorship options for all budgets. The advertising/sponsorship application form is available on our website at www.apsac.org or by email at jcampbell@apsac.org.

About APSAC

The American Professional Society on the Abuse of Children (APSAC) is the leading national organization supporting professionals who serve children and families affected by child maltreatment and violence. As a multidisciplinary group of professions, APSAC achieves its mission in a number of ways, most notably through expert training and educational activities, policy leadership and collaboration, and consultation that emphasizes theoretically sound, evidence-based principles.

Our Vision:

APSAC envisions a world where all maltreated or at-risk children and their families have access to the highest level of professional commitment and service.
