Kate Guastaferro, Ph.D., is an Assistant Research Professor at the Pennsylvania State University in the Edna Bennett Pierce Prevention Science Center. She uses advanced methods, including Latent Class Analysis (LCA) and Time-Varying Effect Modeling (TVEM) to inform intervention development. Her passion is research methods that can lead to the development of more effective interventions.