Jean Mercer, Ph.D., is a developmental psychologist and professor emerita of psychology at Stockton University. She is the author of a number of books on child development issues, including Attachment Therapy on Trial, a discussion of a child’s death in an “alternative” therapy. Her focus for some years has been on potentially harmful treatments for children, including methods used by parents. Her Childmyths blog is at http://childmyths.blogspot.com