Ashley Bolella serves as Clinical Social Worker in the Suspected Child Abuse and Neglect (SCAN) program at Connecticut Children’s Medical Center, providing comprehensive services to children and families with concerns of abuse or neglect. Currently, Mrs. Bolella is acting Clinical Core Lead for the Children’s Center on Family Violence, an innovative partnership between Connecticut Children’s Medical Center and the Connecticut Coalition against Domestic Violence created to reduce the impact of family violence on children through a trauma-informed, multidisciplinary approach. Mrs. Bolella has extensive history providing acute psychiatric care to children and adolescents for concerns of major mental health conditions and suicidality. Specializing in trauma and attachment, Mrs. Bolella has a wealth of experience providing clinical support and therapeutic interventions to children and families.